

Winter Field Day 2022

Ham radio operators from the Moreno Valley Amateur Radio Association (MVARA) will participate in Winter Field Day, a national-emergency preparedness drill, on the grounds of March Field Air Museum from 11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, to 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan 30, 2022.

During the 24-hour event, local volunteers will practice for an actual emergency by using radios on different frequencies to contact and share information with other participating stations throughout the United States and Canada.

Amateur radio operators are frequently called upon in emergencies, using their equipment and expertise to keep communications open in disaster-stricken areas when telephones, cell phones and the Internet are not functioning.

MVARA volunteers operate the Frank Zizzo Radio Room at March Field Air Museum. They will run their Winter Field Day stations on museum grounds, in the field just outside the Radio Room. Museum visitors will be encouraged to ask club members about their radios, the Radio Room, and Winter Field Day.
